

Your code is:
XXX-XXX

Where is My Package

An Amazon, UPS, and Leasing Office Mystery

Written and Illustrated by Wen Yao Sha

Meet Amazon Hub

The future of package delivery management is here. A safe, secure, self-service solution to bring an end to the endless frustration of mishandled deliveries.

How it works

Courier delivers the package into a locker.

Customer picks it up with a code they receive from Amazon.

Available at your apartment now.
Sign up today!

Some time later, on a peaceful, sunny morning

Your shipment

1Z0XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX

✓ Delivered On

Friday, October 27 at 10:55 A.M. at Locker

Delivered To

XXXXXXXXXX, XX US

Proof of Delivery

Get Updates >

File a Claim

View Details

But I haven't received any code yet!

Try calling them?

The plot thickens

Hello,
Amazon.

Hello! Thanks for contacting Amazon. It doesn't look like you have a package delivered in the locker. Ask your shipping service provider for an update.

Hello,
UPS.

Hello! Our records indicate that the package was delivered into the locker as of 10:55 this morning. Ask your property manager to retrieve it.

Hello,
Leasing Office.

Hello! If you have already checked the mailroom, please go to the Amazon Hub and call them. If there's a package for you inside, they can open it for you remotely.

THIS CANNOT BE RIGHT.

No, it cannot.

Excuse me -
who are you?

I am package God.
Listen to me very carefully.

The package limbo

Your package is currently in a place called the package limbo.

Many know of its existence.

A few seek its whereabouts.

None have prevailed.

A diagram illustrating the 'package limbo' concept. A central brown cardboard box is positioned between three circles. The top circle is dark brown and labeled 'UPS' Responsibility. The bottom-left circle is orange and labeled 'Amazon's Responsibility'. The bottom-right circle is blue and labeled 'Leasing Office's Responsibility'. The box is slightly offset towards the right, appearing to be caught between the responsibilities of the three entities.

Amazon's Responsibility

UPS' Responsibility

Leasing
Office's Responsibility

The package limbo, cont'd

My brave package seeker, fate calls upon you today.

You must find the package
limbo and bring your package back home.

Legend has it that its sacred entrance is hidden somewhere in plain sight.

I think will just ask for a refund instead.

– The End –